Use Fire Dep't Number ONLY for Fire Calls, Chief Martin Urges

Please, please, Fire Chief L. G. Martin emphasized today, use the phone number 3-7135 for all calls to the police and fire departments except when reporting a fire.

When there's a fire the person reporting should call 3-7134, but should use this number ONLY when there's a fire to report.

Martin said that since the new dial system was installed about a month ago, there have been three or four calls daily on the fire phone by persons seeking to talk to policemen or firemen.

"For any type of business other than to report a fire, please phone 3-7135," Martin pleaded.

Hoffa Is Temporarily Barred from Taking Office

Federal Judge Sets Oct. 21 for Court Hearing

All Newly Elected
Teamster Officers
Barred by Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge today temporarily barred James R. Hoffa and other newly elected officers of the Teamsters Union from taking office.

Hoffa was elected president of the union to succeed Dave Beck at the recent Teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed a temporary restraining order, in effect suspending the convention's decision, and set Monday, Oct. 21, for a hearing.

He ordered Hoffa to show cause why he should not be prevented from taking office.

A temporary restraining order normally expires in 10 days.

The judge acted on a plea by 13 rank-and-file teamsters who charged that 80 per cent of the convention delegates were illegally selected to insure victory for Hoffa and his slate.

Letts ordered the Teamsters to show cause why other proceedings at the convention as well as the election should not be declared void. The union made sweeping changes in its constitution at the meeting.

The judge also tentatively set a $5,000 ceiling on any transaction by the union subject to his findings in the hearing.

The judge indicated he will bar the union's leadership from taking reprisals against the plaintiffs in the suit.

Letts agreed that the rank-and-file group stood little chance of accomplishing anything by "intra union remedies." He said there was danger that the union would suffer "continuing disgrace" because of domination by corrupt officials.

The judge also said the union must show why it should not be prohibited from carrying out any but "routine" decisions in union affairs.

The union was told to show why a master appointed by the court should not supervise the union's major policy decisions.

Outgoing Teamster President Dave Beck said he would step down Tuesday to let Hoffa take over if Hoffa wins a delay in his trial on conspiracy charges for wiretapping. The trial is set for Tuesday.

22 Highway Deaths

By United Press

Two separate accidents took a total of nine lives to help give Illinois one of its worst weekend traffic fatality records of the year.

Other accidents in the state boosted the total to at least 22.

Five teenagers were killed Sunday when their souped-up car rocketed off a black top road near Johnsburg, 20 miles west of Waukegan. The dead, all of Chicago, were Harry Brown, 17, James Kelly, 17, Alan Jacobson, 18, Daniel Ottlinger, 17, and Kenneth Curylo, 16.

Mahlon Meling, 27, his wife, 28, and their son, Joseph 2, were killed in a two-car accident Saturday on Ill. 26 north of Princeton. The driver of the other car, Warren Green, 58, Sterling, also was killed. The Melings' home was in Ohio, Ill.

John L. Hansen, 30, Kewanee, was killed north of Mineral Saturday when his car went out of control on a country road.

Lawrence Cantrell, 34, Coatsburg, was killed when his car hit a culvert near Coatsburg Friday night.

Carrier Mills Firemen Extinguish Field Blaze Near Stonefort

The Carrier Mills fire department made a run about noon Saturday to a corn field in the Stonefort area that was threatened by fire.

Carrier Mills Mayor Freeman O'Keefe said this morning the blaze apparently started in a near-by woods and was spreading rapidly in the direction of the corn field. Action by the Carrier Mills firemen extinguished the fire before it reached the corn, owned by C. L. Blackman.

Hope to End Girl Scout Drive This Week

In the window of the Harrisburg National bank, is a chart showing how the Girl Scout Fund drive is progressing. The drive is well under way and the finance committee, headed by Clayton Slack in Harrisburg and Bernard Tanner in Eldorado, hopes to have completed the drive by the end of this week.

The men and women on the finance committee are giving generously of their time and efforts and with the help of the public, hope the little Girl Scout will be able to climb the ladder all the way up to her goal, which is, of course, the quota.

As a result of the help being given by the King Coal Council, activity in the Girl Scout organization is on the increase. Now that training is available, more women feel that they can qualify as leaders. Consequently, 13 new troops have been formed in Harrisburg this fall. For the first time in years, there are enough leaders.

The training course for leaders now in progress is having good attendance. There will be two more sessions, Oct. 16 and Oct. 23. The training sessions are held in the Scout room of Wesley Center, First Methodist church, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

On Highway 45

Six Hurt In Auto Crash

Five persons were hospitalized and the sixth treated for injuries when the auto in which they were riding left Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonefort about 10 a. m. today and overturned.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat except one and that the group was returning to Chicago after attending a funeral in Mississippi.

The car left the road, he stated, and when the driver, Mattie Salome, tried to cut back onto the pavement she lost control and the vehicle skidded and rolled for a distance of about 600 feet.

The Rev. Louis Hearne and son, Bud, of Carrier Mills saw the accident and got the people out of the car, calling the Miller ambulance from Carrier Mills which brought the injured to the Harrisburg hospital.

Officer Sweat listed the injured as follows: Mattie Salome, 38, cuts, bruises and broken ribs; Rosetta Miller, 69, possible broken right leg and cuts and bruises; Unice Vallian, 48, mouth injury and facial cuts; Jimmy Floyd Stepp, 29, scalp injury; and Beulah Sanders, 28, broken ribs, all in Harrisburg hospital; and Laraine Stepp, 29, treated but not hospitalized.

Mrs. Miller was from Wier, Miss., the others from Chicago.

Blames Her Advisers

Ex-British Editor Blasts Queen's Activities as 'Royal Soap Opera'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Malcolm Muggeridge, former editor of the British humor magazine "Punch," today blasted the activities of Queen Elizabeth II and her family as a "royal soap opera."

But the recently-resigned Punch editor placed most of the blame on the Queen's advisers, some of whom he described as "quite exceptionally incompetent."

In an article entitled "Does England Really Need A Queen?" in the Saturday Evening Post, Muggeridge said "duchesses... find the Queen dowdy, frumpish and banal." He said it was important that Queen Elizabeth obtain the services of good advisers because she is a "rather simple person" due to her necessarily sheltered and narrow upbringing. He claimed she failed to provide a "symbolic head of state transcending the politics who go in and out of office."

Her present advisers, Muggeridge said, are putting forth too much effort to present the Queen as a "charming wife and mother" instead of a "useful, unifying element in a society full of actual and potential discord."

Although he admitted the Queen and Prince Philip are popular with the people—especially the "lower social echelons"—Muggeridge claimed such popularity does not guarantee security.

"The Czar and Czarina were never the object of such fantastic manifestations of adulations as in 1914, but four years later they were shot like dogs in a cellar and no one in Russia seemed to care much," Muggeridge said. "Popularity, like patriotism, is not enough."

Muggeridge said Philip fitted well into the picture as "handsome, high-spirited, fond of sport, and elegant in his naval uniform—the very prototype of the dream husband upon whom women's magazines thrive."

The former editor said, however, that he believes the monarchy can survive if Queen Elizabeth obtains as advisers men who understand "what the twentieth century is about—men who can deal with the ink and television side of her existence subtly and sensibly without losing sight of the great symbolic unity of the institution she embodies."

Fear New Explosion In Middle East

Egypt Troops in Syria Moving to Turkish Border

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Some of the Egyptian troops and tanks which landed in Syria were reported moving up to the tense Turkish border today in a development that heightened fears of an explosion in the Middle East.

Egyptian sources in Cairo warned that Egypt "will take military action if necessary to defend Arab nationalism against big power moves"—a warning that caused new uneasiness in Israel and Jordan. Cairo newspaper pictures showed tanks accompanying the troops.

King Feisal of Iraq met with King Hussein of Jordan Sunday, and there were reports in Amman that Iraq, a Baghdad Pact ally of Turkey, might send troops into Jordan, to defend it against any threat.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in New York the Syrian build-up was a "serious and grave danger to Israel." And official sources in Jerusalem said the Egyptian "publicity stunt" could provoke the Arab states into some new action.

But Israeli sources said the Egyptian move may alert the United States and NATO once more to the military threat to Turkey.

The Egyptian troop movement came against a background of Syrian and Soviet charges that Turkey and the United States planned aggression against Syria, and a solemn warning by the United States that it stood by its commitments to help defend Turkey.

The initial group of Egyptians landed in Syria at Port Latakia, only 20 miles from the Turkish border, while Syrian and Egyptian Soviet-made jets flew overhead.

Volcano in Tokyo Erupts

TOKYO (AP)—The sudden eruption of Tokyo's "suicide volcano," Mt. Milhara, appeared to be a one-shot blast that came at a bad time, police said today.

The unpredictable volcano spewed forth a tone and lava in a mighty gush Sunday while hundreds of sightseers were on its slopes and rim.

One sightseer, Kiyomi Maki, 24, was hit on the head and killed by a piece of volcanic rock while standing on an observation platform. Another 54 were injured by flying stones and hot ashes.

The 2,477-foot mountain, noted for the many suicides by leaps into its crater, is on an island south of Tokyo and technically in the greater Tokyo area.

First Steps Into Space

BY BRUCE BOISSAT

The conquest of outer space has begun. With the first man-made satellite circling the earth every hour and 36 minutes, this great dream of men has moved from the realm of futuristic fiction to tentative reality.

We cannot be less in awe of the accomplishment because Russia, the fountain-head of hostile communism, has brought it off.

This time there can be no skepticism regarding Soviet claims. A steady stream of beeping radio signals caught by receiving equipment all around the globe affirms the fact of this spinning moon launched from Moscow.

It takes some getting used to. From the moon, the planets and the stars we get no messages but light. From the 184-pound, 22 1/2-inch-wide satellite now coursing at 18,000 miles an hour 560 miles above the earth, we can begin to learn many things.

This first artificial moon is perhaps crude in its complement of recording instruments. More refined equipment such as well be contained in others planned by Russia and the United States will indicate much to scientists about the size and shape of our own planet.

They say that satellites whirling in orbits over long periods may tell us whether, as some scientists contend, the earth's land areas are in motion. The full nature and extent of our "atmospheric cover" may be divulged, too.

But, inevitably, men will always mark the date of Oct. 4, 1957. For that was the moment in history when it was demonstrated that they could in fact reach out to the beyond, to enter into competition—in a modest way—with the heavenly bodies around us.

All scientists today are giving the Soviet Union great credit for translating hope into reality. That the Russians were first shows us convincingly that their scientific base is broad. It indicates—and this would seem to be of massive importance—that the state of their rocket developments is well advanced.

Our scientists are somewhat cautious. But there is a feeling the Russians could not have launched their satellite without a rocket of tremendous power and speed. That they did suggest to some that their claim of having a long-range intercontinental ballistic missile may reflect the truth.

Should this be true, then they are indeed outpacing us in a vital field. And that would give their spinning moon major military as well as general scientific significance for all the peoples of the globe.

He who is first is not always best. But the satellite's insistent radio signals may be a reminder to us for a good time to come that, not having been first, we have a huge task ahead of us if we would try to be best.

At stake is not only man's adventure into space but the safety and well-being of his earth-bound millions.

Message From the Skies

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson says: GOP leaders decide Ike's coattails now lack political appeal; split in Republican party is widening; Air Force accidentally fired an accidental moon last summer

WASHINGTON — Only a year after president Eisenhower's landslide victory, word has gone out to Republican congressmen. From Congressman Dick Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee: "Vote your district point of view and never mind White House orders."

This means a widening rift inside the Republican party and increasing difficulty in passing any administration program.

As Congressional campaign chief, Simpson is largely responsible for electing a Republican Congress next year. He has warned GOP candidates that the ride on Ike's coattails is over, that his political popularity has dropped drastically.

"Sure, this may mean a party split, but we're politicians. It is our job to get elected," he has told subordinates privately. "There aren't any politicians in the White House. We have tried it their way, and we are losing ground."

He pointed out that three Republican veterans — Congressmen John Taber of New York, John Vorys of Ohio, and Les Arends of Illinois — are in political trouble at home for supporting the president's foreign aid program. All three will probably face primary opposition from Anti-Eisenhower Republicans.

In an attempt to head off a party split, GOP Chairman Meade ALCORN has held several secret conferences with Simpson. All this has accomplished is prevent open Republican warfare.

"There is no divorce yet," Simpson remarked privately after a recent huddle with ALCORN. "We are living in separate bedrooms from the Eisenhower Republicans now."

The divorce papers are drawn up and ready to sign.

NOTE — If in an off-the-cuff speech to Republican women at Colorado Springs last month, Simpson came the closest to an open public break with the Eisenhower wing.

"The only way to elect Republicans," he told the ladies, "is when Republicans run as Republicans and not as 'me-tooers.'"

The Air Force may have beaten Russia into space this summer with the first man-made satellite—though it was an accident. A nose cone on a guided missile misfired and could still be whizzing around the earth.

The bullet-shaped nose cone, about 18 inches long and polished smooth as glass, was catapulted into space by the experimental X-17 which the Air Force has been using to blaze the way for the intercontinental Atlas.

The Air Force has been shooting the three-stage X-17 to the edges of outer space. There the missile normally noses downward, and the third stage fires the cone downward at terrific speed into the earth's atmosphere. Purpose of the experiment is to duplicate the conditions the Atlas' warhead will encounter when it plunges into the atmosphere.

In this particular case, however, the nose cone was blasted upward instead of downward. Air Force scientists are convinced it was traveling at sufficient speed to launch it in an orbit around the earth. Of course, it wasn't equipped with radio or instruments that would make it possible to track as in the case of the Soviet Sputnik.

Meanwhile, Uncle Sam's official Satellite project "Vanguard" has bogged down at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The American "Moon" has to be boosted into the air with a 3-stage launching device of which the second and third stages have been successfully test-fired. But the crucial first stage, which must lift the other two off the ground, has been waiting a month for its first flight.

General Electric built the crucial first-stage engines. They were accepted for delivery after undergoing several 2-1/2 minute ground tests. The tests were successful and no parts had to be replaced. But this was only on the ground.

When the rocket was loaded with dummy second and third stages, the Navy was not able to get it off the ground. The excuse is that a better fuel is needed.

X-RAY DANGER Radiologists now warn that thousands of people yearly are needlessly injured by incorrect use of X-ray equipment.

Worst offenders are dentists and general practitioners who can buy X-ray machines and fluoroscopes even though they lack special training in their use. Patients can absorb dangerous radioactivity, threatening their ability to have children and possibly even shortening their own lives or causing cancer.

The problem has always existed, but it has been dramatized by public discussion of the danger from Nuclear weapon "fall-out." Fluoroscopes can be especially dangerous. As a result, even trained radiologists are today re-examining their methods to reduce patients' exposure.

A rule of thumb is to avoid the use of X-rays whenever possible. Broken bones, for example, can often be discovered by touch. Dentists can avoid the reckless use of X-rays by probing for cavities, then X-raying only those teeth where definite cavities are suspected.

Experts point out that, as a general rule, X-ray machines and fluoroscopes should be used only when other methods cannot be substituted. It's also important that the equipment be correctly calibrated, so the doctor knows exactly how much radiation is being administered. He should use a proper shield, so X-rays are not sprayed needlessly over the patient's body but confined only to the part under examination or treatment. This applies especially to dental X-rays and chest X-rays for TB detection. If done properly, the exposure to radioactivity during a chest X-ray is slight.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

The Bible is still leading the best seller list of literature. This record stands because the Book is so much more than mere exposition for mental consumption. The Bible has been feeding the spirits of men and women for many hundreds of years. It will continue to do so as long as man exists.

This is National Bible Week and this year's slogan of "The Bible—Today, Tomorrow and Forever" is significant because the spirit will ever hunger, yet it will not be filled. The Bible is the only printed volume that gives the long ing spirit a well-balanced diet of God's sustenance.

We may not be able to develop a habit in a few short days, but we can start now to learn more of God's word. We can set aside a few minutes every day this week in which to read a chapter or more of the Scripture. If we couple this reading with prayer and with doing God's will, we shall find satisfaction. The habit will grow and we shall soon find ourselves much closer to the higher way, through all the days of our lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Taylor were guests of honor at a party given by the American War Dads and the Auxiliary chapter No. 59, to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary.

About sixty five members were present to congratulate them and wish them many more happy years together. The table was beautifully arranged with a gold brocade cloth and centered with a large tiered cake, appropriately decorated for the occasion. At either end was a lovely bouquet of yellow mums in a golden bowl. One of these was a remembrance from their grandson, Donald Ledbetter, who is in the Air Force, stationed in Alaska and the other was a gift from the American War Dads and the Auxiliary.

Crest-Miller Marriage Solemnized At Methodist Church in Equality

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Leon Miller
(Portrait by Ronnie)

Miss Nancy Ann Crest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Crest, Equality, became the bride of Claude Leon Miller, son of John B. Miller, Junction, and Mrs. Hallie Mae Miller of West Frankfort, at 8 o'clock on Sept. 20, in the Methodist church of Equality. Rev. Delmar Feazel performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with palms, candleabras bearing tall, white burning tapers and stands of white gladioli.

Rev. Feazel sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Sue Stewart played the wedding marches and accompanied the solos at the piano. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a floor length wedding gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice having a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves pointed at the hands. Covered buttons closed the back of the gown, and the bouffant skirt of nylon tulle had back and front panels of lace with appliqued motifs scattered at the sides of the skirt. Her French illusion, fingertip length veil, was secured to a crown of sequins and iridescent pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds and stephanotis, nylon tulle and streamers and bows of frosted ribbons on her beaded Bible a gift of her mother. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Luke Stuart, close friend of the bride, served as her matron of honor and wore a floorlength dress of orchid chiffon over satin, with matching sweetheart hat and mitts. Her bouquet was of orchid colored daisies. Mrs. George Frohock, cousin of the bride, was her bridesmaid and wore an ensemble identical to that of the matron of honor in a mint green color. Her flowers were bronze daisies.

Billy Ray Davis, Eldorado, acted as best man for the bridegroom and Luke Stuart was his groomsmen. The ushers were John David Crest, brother of the bride, and J. C. Miller, Harrisburg, of the bridegroom.

Miss Vivian Miller, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a yellow nylon dress and a headress of yellow daisies. She scattered yellow rose petals from a basket.

Stanley Miller, nephew of the bridegroom, was the ringbearer and carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow, trimmed with ruffles and ribbon bows. The bride's mother wore a dress of navy blue with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

The mother of the bridegroom chose for her son's wedding a blue dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. There was a reception in the church immediately following the marriage ceremony and the linen covered table was decorated with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums and fern. Large wedding bells hung overhead. The three tiered wedding cake was latticed with sugar frosting and sugar rosebuds added to the beauty. There was a bride and groom on the top.

Joyce Brinkley, Norma Hoecker, Joann Hancock, Madeline Womack and Rita Pearce, the bride's sister served at the bride's table. Mrs. Billy Ray Davis kept the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a honeymoon trip and are now at home to their friends at 115 south Vine street, Harrisburg. They were both graduated from the Equality high school.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Joyce Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ray Douglas, Mrs. Royal Alvey and son, Mrs. Pearl Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glenn Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Davis, and Mrs. David Guiley, all of Eldorado; Herbert Miller, Scott Air Force Base; Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey McLain, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLain, Mrs. Ted Sisk, Miss Freda Ann Sisk, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Martin, Mrs. Lizzie Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Colbert, all of Junction; Mrs. Minnie Hudgens, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller, Mrs. Ruth Easley, Mrs. Mamie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. The October meeting of the Modern Homemakers Home Bureau unit, was a covered dish luncheon, held in Karel Park recently. Mrs. Delmar Thomas, president, called the meeting to order and plans were made to make candles in the home of Mrs. Carl Miller and to hold a joint meeting with other Eldorado units in November.

Mrs. Carl Miller presented the major lesson, "Arranging Flowers, Twigs, Shrubs and Leaves," and displayed some of her own arrangements. Mrs. Jim Harper showed some pictures to further illustrate the topic. The minor topic, "The Home Medicine Chest," was given by Mrs. Maurice Beasley.

Mrs. Mike Keating was in charge of the recreation and prizes were awarded Mrs. Carl Gates, Mrs. Harry Bramlett, Mrs. Frank Mitchell and Mrs. Delmar Thomas. Mrs. Charles Barton, Mrs. Carl Fritts and Mrs. Della Sutton also attended.

The women of the Loyal Women Sunday school class of the First Christian church held a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Emma Sleet, 76, 5 East Raymond, Harrisburg, in the home of her friend, Mrs. Cecil Uzzle, 810 South Ledford street Friday. Entertainment was planned by Miss Bess Pemberton and included clownish bonnets she had made for all of the guests, who performed amusing stunts. Miss Sleet was costumed in a hula skirt, bracelets and jewelry, all made by her friends for the occasion. Prize winners for the game were Mrs. Isabell Adkins, Mrs. Lucy McCord and Mrs. Sleet.

Many attractive birthday gifts were opened and admired, including that of Mrs. Carrie Young who was unable to attend. Miss Pemberton was called to teach and also was unable to be there to see the success of her favors and games.

Refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Georgia Patterson. The red chrysanthemum centerpiece for the table was sent by Mrs. Della Abbey, and with the candles, gave the table a festive atmosphere.

Others attending were: Mrs. Martha Gentry, Mrs. Maggie Burton, Miss Lucille McCormick, Nancy Jo and Doug Uzzle.

Matter of FACT

The 12 gems in the breast-plate of the high priest Aaron, described in the biblical book of Exodus, are said to have been the origin of the idea of the birthstone. According to tradition, each month has its own precious or semiprecious stone or stones which bring good luck to a person born in that month. Another legend attributes the idea for birthstones to the 12 precious stones that formed the foundation of the Holy City, of which St.
John speaks in the Book of Revelation.

Harmony Shown in Pope County Efforts to Halt Area's Decline

GOLCONDA, Ill. — Tiny Pope county on the Ohio river has been losing population since the beginning of the 20th century.

It now has 4,279 people, or less than one-third as many residents as there were in 1900. Declining farm income and lack of industry have decimated towns and rural villages in Southeastern Illinois which was thriving in 1818 when the state was admitted to statehood.

The stalwart few who remain in Pope county, however, have banded together to prove that in unity there is strength. For a year now, they have been working together on a countywide program with the help of Southern Illinois University's department of community development.

A recently approved unit school system is a symbol of the new spirit of solidarity that has become evident since the program started.

Representative Group

It took the votes of farmers as well as urban dwellers, and people from the river bottoms and the hill country, to pass the measure which strips local school boards of their autonomy and creates a single seven-member governing body for all elementary schools and the high school. Nowhere else in the lower 16 counties of the state is there a school district embracing the entire county.

Countywide harmony has expressed itself in other ways too.

A 44-member advisory committee which has been spearheading efforts to put the county back on its feet is representative of the entire county. It includes farmers, housewives, labor leaders, a county commissioner, a rural mail carrier, a funeral director, an auto dealer and a minister.

Some of them live at opposite ends of the 281 square mile county, or in remote areas surrounded by the Shawnee National Forest. Feeder roads off the main highways are sometimes impassable.

"But they came to meetings all through the winter," said Millard Farmer, Illinois Public Aid Commission supervisor here and co-chairman of the Pope County Development program. "They drove long distances through rain, mud and snow."

"Some people whom you'd least expect to be working for county-wide improvements have taken a surprising interest in this program," Farmer reported.

Committees which have been studying public health, government, beautification and other things are readying additional recommendations for citizen action—just as the education committee proposed the county unit school system.

Farm Housing Loans Available Through FHA

Farm housing loans through the Farmers Home Administration are available to farm owners in Saline county, according to information released by E. Ronald Coon, local county supervisor of the agency.

Loans of this type may be made to construct, repair or improve essential farm buildings. Many such loans were made last year to qualify farmers for Grade-A milk production by the building of remodeling of milk parlors, loafing sheds and the installation of water systems. In other cases farm homes were modernized with new bathrooms, up-to-date kitchens and better heating systems. Loans were also made to build new farm homes where the old structures were no longer usable.

Farm housing loans are being made today to farmers in need of this type of assistance who are unable to secure financing from local credit sources. If you are a farm owner, either operator or landlord, are planning farm construction and would like more information about these Farm Housing loans, visit your local office of the Farmers Home Administration located in the Harrisburg National Bank building. Mr. Coon said applications will be accepted and processed promptly for those who qualify.

Cancer Crusade Training Session At SIU Tuesday

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Two recent and important research findings in the stepped-up war on cancer will be revealed to downstate "Cancer Crusade" volunteers when they meet to map new battle strategy on the Southern Illinois University campus Tuesday, Oct. 15.

The all-day training session, being conducted by the American Cancer Society's Illinois division, is one of six being held in key spots throughout Illinois this fall. According to Mrs. John Mars, chairman of the host Jackson county chapter, more than 180 volunteers from 24 counties will be on hand.

Headlining the roster of speakers will be Dr. Howard F. Raskin, assistant professor of medicine at the University of Chicago. He will describe new methods of diagnosing stomach and colon cancer at the afternoon session in SIU's Library Auditorium.

The importance of cell examination in timely diagnosis will be explained by Dr. John Rogers, Chicago, executive director of the Illinois division. His talk, opening the 9:45 a. m. meeting at University School Auditorium, will be titled "Looking Ahead—A Planned Attack Against Uterine Cancer."

Other highlights of the morning session will be the American Cancer Society film, "Time and Two Women," which concerns cell examination for uterine cancer; a panel presentation of an outline for public education, and an "American Cancer Crusade" pep talk for the volunteer workers.

Sen. Mansfield Promises Probe Of Missile Charge

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield today promised an investigation of charges the Army was kept from developing what Army men claim could have become man's first artificial moon.

He blamed the Eisenhower administration for failing to "knock heads together" among the armed services and for getting this country "behind the eight ball" in missile and satellite development.

Mansfield told the United Press an Army rocket team headed by German scientist Dr. Werner Von Braun produced "the only fully developed ballistic missile I know about"—the Redstone missile with a 200-300 mile range.

Promises Definite Probe

"I understand they could have" produced a missile that would have put an American earth satellite in the sky ahead of Russia's Sputnik, he said.

"But I haven't got the proof." Asked if Senate investigators will look into the matter, he replied: "You bet they will."

As Sputnik spun around the earth today there were these other developments:

—Aviation Week Magazine said Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is working on an earth-circling reconnaissance satellite, to be ready by 1960, which would become a manned vehicle in later versions. It said the Lockheed vehicle is known as the "Pied Piper" or "Big Brother" and would carry television, photographic cameras and an infra-red spotter or radar scanner systems.

—Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces in the Atlantic, said Russia's launching of its man-moon indicates the Reds have reached "an advanced stage" of missile and satellite development. But he indicated he was opposed to any "crash" program to overtake the Russians.

GOP Committee Endorses Bonus

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The Republican State Central Committee has endorsed the 75-million-dollar Korean War veterans bonus plan which will be submitted to the voters in a November, 1958, referendum.

The committee adopted a resolution at a meeting here Saturday in which it urged the voters of the state "patriotically to vote for approval" of the bonus plan.

If approved by the voters, the bonus would be financed through a bond issue to be paid off with a one-cent-a-pack increase in the state cigarette tax.

The bonus plan provides for payments of $10 for each month spent in service—in this country or overseas—during the Korean War period, plus flat $100 payments to holders of the Korean Service Medal, and $1,000 to next of kin of those who died in service.

The state central committee endorsed the bonus at a meeting held to discuss arrangements for a two-day "pattern of victory" conference to be held by Illinois Republicans Dec. 23 at Peoria.

State GOP Chairman Stanley H. Guyer, Rockford, said the conference would include discussions on such subjects as agriculture, small business, peace and foreign affairs, civil rights and campaign techniques.

New Legislation Is Outlined at Coroners' Meeting

New legislation affecting coroners was outlined Sunday at the annual fall meeting of the Illinois State Coroners Association in Marion.

Dr. Edwin Hirsh, president of the Chicago Medical Society, explained a new law which requires the appointment of special coroners' physician to assist in determining the necessity of autopsies.

Williamson County Coroner Adolph Fluck, Marion, said counties will pay for the services of the physician as well as the autopsies. Other speakers included State Senator Paul Ziegler, Carmi, and Williamson County State's Attorney Carl Sneed.

Some 30 coroners from throughout Illinois attended the meeting.

Seaton Warns of Water Problem; Sees Conversion of Sea Water

CHICAGO (UP)—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton today predicted that by 1972 some cities and industries will be meeting their mounting water demands by converting sea water to fresh water at a price they "can afford to pay."

Seaton, who spoke at today's opening session of the Inland Daily Press Association's annual meeting, warned that within a relatively few years water could be America's top internal problem.

He outlined a number of the Eisenhower administration's programs for trapping and conserving rain water, which now runs largely to the sea unused.

Among these is the Upper Colorado River storage project which should be completed in the 1980s and will provide irrigation for 364,500 arid acres and 1,000,000 kilowatts of generating capacity for residents of Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico.

But he said even these "massive efforts" will not be enough to meet the water needs of the future.

"We must go to the sea itself and grandchildren surviving.

The body will lie in state at the Martin funeral home in Eldorado until the funeral at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Church of God. Rev. V. B. Raines will officiate and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

bring back from it fresh water to make life possible on the land" Seaton said.

He said private research, conducted under contract with the Interior Department, has brought the cost of converting salt to fresh water down to 60 cents per thousand gallons. The cost is expected to drop even further "in the near future," he said.

"Where the mastery of this problem will ultimately lead — worldwide — has almost limitless possibilities," Seaton continued.

Ernest T. Baughman, economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, told the delegates the nation could look forward to the "rather pleasant" prospect of a high and gradually rising level of business in the remainder of 1957 and early 1958.

"The strong inflationary forces that have plagued the nation since mid-1955 appear to be losing some of their steam and a few areas of price stability . . . have emerged," Baughman said.

He said one of the chief factors in stabilizing the economy is that the huge program of industrial expansion begun in 1955, which contributed to inflation, is completed and is helping the economy "toward a balance of supply and demand at a high level of output."

He said credit restraint also has played a major role in helping slow down inflation.

Notre Dame Games with Oklahoma, Michigan State May Decide National Title

By United Press
They settled Army's hash and, who knows, maybe Notre Dame's Fighting Irish now can help settle the 1957 college football championship.

Oklahoma and Michigan State, the leading contenders for the national title, unfortunately are not scheduled to meet this season. However, both play Notre Dame—on successive Saturdays next month.

So if the Sooners and the Spartans remain unbeaten, those games with the Irish may decide who wears the crown this season.

Notre Dame conceivably could join in the title chase if the Irish continue their strong comeback, but the odds—and the schedule—are against them.

Irish draw an open date in their murderous schedule next Saturday—and they deserve it after that comeback 23-21 victory over Army at Philadelphia.

Trailing by two touchdowns with one minute remaining in the third period, Notre Dame fought back to edge the powerful Cadets on a field goal by Monty Stickle, a third-string end from Poughkeepsie, N. Y. It was the first field goal Stickle ever attempted and it traveled 39 yards—a good boot even in the pro ranks.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, spotted Texas a 7-0 lead and then bounced back to down the Longhorns, 21-7.

Wilmoth Praised By Sports Editor For Army Play

Fred "Catfish" Wilmoth, Harrisburg tackle on the U. S. Military Academy football team, drew praise from John P. Carmichael, Chicago Daily News sports editor who covered the game for his newspaper.

"Sports Editor John P. Carmichael came away from covering the Army-Notre Dame football game with respect for Army tackle Fred 'Catfish' Wilmoth, the former Illini lineman from Harrisburg," today's Daily News said.

He quoted Carmichael as saying: "He played very well. In fact, when he (Army Coach Red Blaik) substituted his second team, as he did several times, he left Wilmoth in there as sort of a stabilizing influence."

His Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilmoth, went to Philadelphia to see the Army-Irish game played Saturday.

Galatia Third in West Frankfort Invitational Meet

Galatia's cross country team finished in third place in the first annual West Frankfort Invitational Cross Country meet held Saturday morning. Ten teams participated.

Centralia won the meet with 44 points. West Frankfort was second with 69 and Galatia's 74 points were good for third.

Other teams, in order of finish—Cobden 103, Christopher 142, Mounds Douglas 144, Vienna 162, Carrier Mills 169, Equality 236 and Marion.

Vello Zavich of West Frankfort was first, covering the two miles in 10 minutes and 34 seconds. Jim Griffin of Galatia was second.

Each team entered five runners, with the exception of Marion which had two participating and Marion did not receive a team score.

for its 43rd straight victory while Michigan State employed the rushing of Walt Kowalczyk and the passing of Jim Ninowski to overpower Michigan, 35-6.

Fourth-ranked Minnesota kept pace with Michigan State in the Big Ten Conference by whipping Northwestern, 41-6, as Bobby Cox and Billy Martin each figured in two touchdowns.

Except for Michigan and Army, the other top-ranked teams rolled merrily along the unbeaten highway.

Minnesota chalked up its second league victory Saturday in a 41-6 rout of Northwestern and Ohio State, Iowa and Wisconsin each scored successes in conference openers.

Ohio State stayed on the ground for two touchdowns and used a short pass for the third in defeating Illinois, 21-7. Iowa, defending champs and last year's Rose Bowl winners, handed Indiana its third straight setback in humbling the Hoosiers, 47-7, and Wisconsin remained the surprise team of the season by winning its third straight with a 23-14 triumph over Purdue.

Wray Carlton scored on a 68-yard run and kicked the decisive extra point as Duke edged Rice, 7-6; Auburn edged Kentucky, 6-0, on Billy Atkins' third period TD; Joe Francis scored twice as Oregon State blanked Idaho, 20-0, and Texas A&M breezed to a 28-6 victory over Houston.

Arkansas Edges Baylor
Arkansas gained a foothold in the Southwest Conference race by edging Baylor, 20-17. Dartmouth and Princeton shared first place in the Ivy League, Auburn was tied with LSU and Mississippi for the lead in the Southeastern Conference, Duke and North Carolina State shared the top rung in the Atlantic Coast Conference, VMI and The Citadel paced the South, and Ohio State, Oregon and Washington State each had 2-0 records in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Oklahoma and Michigan State each run into league "patsies" this week. The Sooners entertain Kansas and the Spartans host Purdue. Army will attempt to rebound against Pittsburgh, Michigan entertain Northwestern, Minnesota is at Illinois, Iowa hosts Wisconsin, Auburn visits Georgia Tech, Duke entertains Wake Forest, Oregon State is at UCLA, and Texas A&M visits Texas Christian.

Colts, Browns Lead Pro League

By United Press

The Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns, doling out points like misers counting gold pieces, hit the National Football League's one-quarter mark today with 3-0 records and became the teams to beat for the division titles.

Baltimore, "needled" by coach Weeb Edbank when it trailed 10-7 at the half Sunday in Milwaukee, scored more than a point a minute in the last two periods to crush the Green Bay Packers, 45-17. It was the season's biggest offensive spree and the Colts have allowed their first three victims to average just 13.7 points.

There was virtually a fight a minute at Cleveland as the Browns tamed the Eagles, 24-7. The Browns and Eagles have been feuding for years and seven players were tossed out of Sunday's game for fighting. The Browns have allowed their first three opponents to average only 7.3 points and are beginning to look like the team that won six straight Eastern Division titles before losing the crown to the New York Giants in 1956.

New York, still not showing the power that made it league champion last year, edged the Washington Redskins, 24-20, and the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 29-20. The Giants and Steelers (both 2-1) trail the Browns by a game. Each has lost to Cleveland.

The Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners (both 2-1) won thrillers and are a game behind the Colts in the Western race. The Lions intercepted six of Norm Van Brocklin's passes during a 10-7 victory over the Los Angeles Rams at Detroit and Y. A. Tittle's pass to R. C. Owens in the last 30 seconds gave the Forty-Niners a 21-17 victory over the Bears at Chicago.

Mrs. Clark Griffith Dies

WASHINGTON AP — Mrs. Clark Griffith, widow of the former president of the Washington baseball team, died suddenly at her home early today, a spokesman for the team announced.

He said the 80-year-old Mrs. Griffith, affectionately known as Aunt Addie, apparently was stricken by a heart attack shortly after midnight while viewing television with her sister, Miss Jean Robertson.

Mrs. Griffith was a principal stockholder in the baseball team. Her husband was associated with the team for 43 years. Clark Griffith, who first joined the team as manager in 1912, and then became president a few years later, died Oct. 27, 1955, at the age of 85.

He left most of his stock, valued at his death at around $500,000, to Mrs. Griffith. It now will be divided equally among their adopted children, Calvin R. Griffith and Mrs. Thelma Griffith Haynes, and Miss Jean Robertson, sister of Mrs. Griffith. Calvin Griffith now is president of the ball club.

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

THE STORY: Sarah Casement continues to probe into the death of Grant Melville. She is surprised to find Tom Gillespie there, ostensibly writing Melville's biography. There is also Melville's first wife, Diana, now married to Felix Satterlee.

AFTER a little while Sarah got a chance to tell Steven about the stone house and the man who had gone out through the front door that afternoon. He was incredulous at first. "Are you sure, sweet heart? Up here? I can't imagine. Give me your key and I'll go over and take a look and make sure that there's no one there now."

He came back in a few minutes. He was troubled. He said soberly, "You're right about those vines, Sarah. Someone did go out through the front door, recently." Steven wasn't easily upset, he knew something she didn't know; it was only when she pressed him that he told her about the firebug. There was someone setting fires in Cornwall, grass fires first, then a barn. "Don't say any thing about it to Carlotta, she's terrified of fire, but we're all keeping our eyes open."

An arsonist loose in Cornwall—it wasn't a cheery thought. The room was now well filled and more people kept coming. Sarah wondered where Tom Gillespie was.

Then Tom Gillespie penetrated the corner to which Sarah was pinned by a large, buxom red-head who was giving her the history of her marital affairs in far too much detail.

Tom said, "Let's get out of here," and pushed and inched and edged a path towards the back door. Following, Sarah felt him check in the middle of the kitchen, and looked where he was looking—into the thin, animated face of Crystabel Dolwin. The woman who had stared past her in the sitting room of the Melville house didn't see them. Out on the back porch in darkness, with the door closed against the uproar, Tom said softly, "Crystabel Dolwin—what do you know, bo—she does get around, doesn't she?"

Sarah was seized with a sudden and intense desire to scream, pound something with her fists. She said acidly that all they needed now to round out the quartet of candidates for the writing of the late Grant Melville's biography was Mr. Dennert, the man with the tired, beaten-up hat.

Standing there in semidarkness she found herself pouring out the story of the afternoon, the banging of the front door and the torn rose vines, and on top of it all, Steven's firebug. Tom didn't ask any questions. He did something much more efficacious. He took her in his arms and held her against him. And then he kissed her. This time there was no fooling about it, and there was no interruption.

SARAH had breakfast with Steven and Carlotta the next morning. Carlotta wouldn't let her help with the breakfast dishes. She and Steven were well matched; her energy was inexhaustible. She was going to run over to Silvernails with a coat she'd promised Tibbie Miles, and wanted Sarah to go with her.

Sarah shook her head. "You're marvelous, Carlotta, I don't see how you do it, after last night, but I'm going for a long walk over the moors."

Half an hour brought Sarah to the top of the Highland, from which you could see for miles. She could see the stone house and Carlotta and Steven's and the spire of the church and nearer the bay the Browns' cottage, and the barn the Satterlees had made over into the studio. Much nearer to her buried in pines, there was a chimney of what might be Grant Melville's cottage, where Tom was staying. Sarah had not deliberate intention of going there when she started down but she took the path to the right and came out almost on top of it.

She crossed the scrap of untended lawn to the open front door. He wasn't in the studio to the left, the door was open. There was a small living room on the right. He wasn't there either. Then she heard voices. The window at the back of the room was open. She went over to it and looked down on a sort of patio set in the trees at the top of a rough driveway.

Tom was there with a woman. They were sitting in battered wicker chairs at a wicker table having coffee. SARAH had never seen the woman before. She hadn't been at Carlotta and Steven's party last night. She was beautiful, in her early thirties, tall and dark and luscious, with a heart-shaped face and short black curly hair that covered her head like a cap. She had no hat on.

He was saying, "so you see we can't be too careful. If Chan were to find out that you came all the way up here to see me the fat would be in the fire. He mustn't have the slightest suspicion. To show anxiety will only make him ask questions. . . . You do realize that, don't you, Lisa, dear?"

The woman he called Lisa bowed her head.

"I know, Tom, I know—but it's so hard when I'm alone, when you're not with me." Her voice was soft, husky. She leaned forward and put out her hands on

In Ninth Season

Groucho Marx Has Oldest Continuous Show on TV

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD —Today's Quiz: Q. Who has the oldest continuous TV show on the air?

A. Groucho Marx. His "You Bet Your Life" program moved into its ninth season this month.

The mustachioed comedian not only holds the longevity record, he also has the astonishing distinction of being among the top ten in each of his years as quiz-master.

"It's really nothing," Groucho said with exaggerated nonchalance. "But I'm afraid to look back over the years—too many people chasing me."

He took time out to peruse the menu in Romanoff's elegant restaurant, and signaled the Maitre D. "Get Romanoff over here," he ordered.

Prince Michael himself marched over, his face reflecting the dread of a much abused target for Groucho's blasts.

"Mike, you fraud," the comic asked, "Is there anything edible on this menu? The whole thing looks suspicious to me." Romanoff flinched. "I don't know why I ask you about the food," Groucho went on. "You can't afford to eat in this joint either."

After five minutes of wrangling, and much to the discomfort of Romanoff, Groucho ordered a raw hamburger with a single caper and a soupçon of raw onions.

Romanoff departed, mumbling about the hardships of running an eatery.

Independence is Success
"Because I'm the oldtimer on TV other performers ask me how the table top, palms up. She said imploringly, "You won't let that girl divert you, make you forget"

Tom took her hands. He was tender with her. "Lisa, Lisa—don't be such a child. Of course not."

I manage to stay on the air year after year," Groucho said. "The answer is that I've saved my money and remained independent."

"I'm not kidding about this. As long as you're independent you can do as you please without worrying about losing your job."

"I do the show because it's fun—not for the money. When it ceases to be fun I'll quit. It's that simple. Actually, I haven't thought about quitting."

Favors Pay TV

Having survived wrestling, quiz shows, situation comedies, panel shows, and now westerns, the little man with the big cigar figures he still will be around when pay TV enters the picture tube.

"It's coming for sure," he said, "and the advertisers deserve it. They've provided such poor programs people are willing to pay to see worthwhile entertainment."

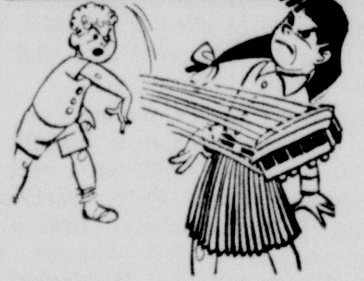

Groucho was interrupted by Romanoff who returned with a pleased smile. His mustache quivered importantly.

"Incidentally, Mr. Marx," he crowed, "your brother, Harpo, was the first person to eat in my Palm Springs restaurant."

"I know," Groucho concluded dryly. "We just got a report from his doctor."

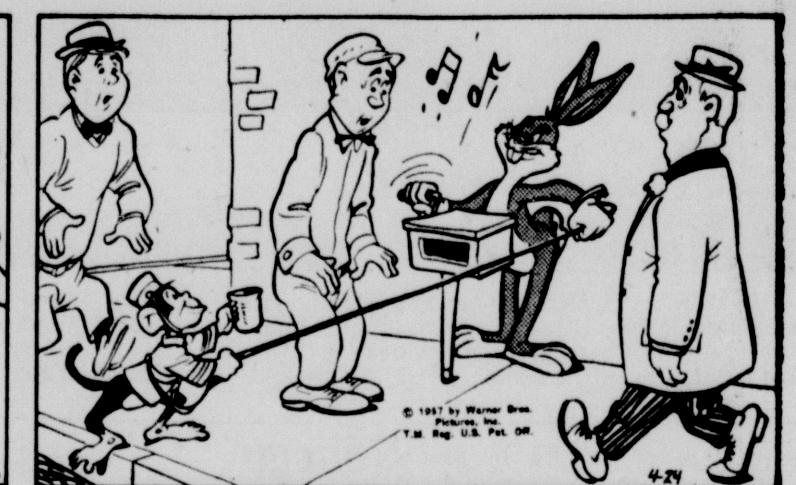

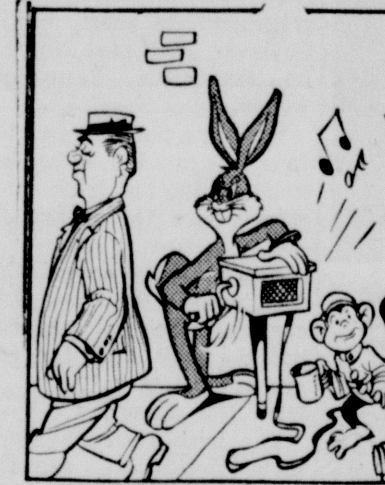

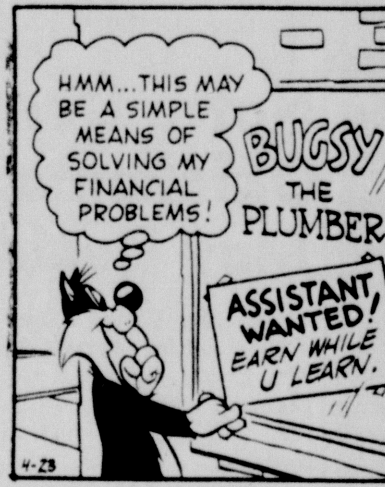

Romanoff moved away again. He didn't come back.
